Yesterday afternoon he fell in with a race track acquaintance named Mad track acquaintance named Mad Farrell, and the two drove around the city until early in the evening, drinking occasionally. They then visited a restaurant together for supper, and while there the two fell to examining a large forty-four calibre self-cocking revolver in the possession of a third party, an acquantance of Farrill's, who was present. While this was going on the pistel was discharged, being in Dunn's hand. The ball ledged in Farrell's head inflicting a wound which the dectors pronounced fatal, although he is still alive

A New Route to the Seaboard. [New York special.]

The new railroad company known as the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroad company, has been organized under the laws of Indiana, by capitalists most of whom are identified with the Lake Erie and Western railroad. The capital is $16,000,000, of which $13,500,000 has been subscribed. The lines of construction determined upon are one from Cleveland to Chicago, and one from Fort Wayne junc-tion to St. Louis. The line from Cleveland to Chicago will be fifteen miles shorter than by the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern. The contract for both lines has been awarded, and calls for the completion of the St. Louis division by July 1, 1882. A proposition to build eastward to Buffalo is under consideration. The company has purchased fifty-six miles of the Wabash canal, which secures it the right of way and territory 250 feet wide through Fort

The Savings of the Poor.

In the passion for wealth the poor peopl are saving their money. In 1880 the savings banks in New York city added $45, 000,000 to their deposits, whereas in 1879 the increase in the savings banks of the city was only $10,000,000. In 1878 the savings banks lost $11,000,000. The Dry Dock savings bank, said to be the most successful poor man's bank in the world, has nearly $9,000,000 on deposit, or invested, and owes its depositors rising $8,000,000. The New York Savings bank owes its depositors over $4,000,000, the Union Dime nearly $3,500,000, and the Citizens' bank more than $7,000,000.

SINGULAR SUICIDE.

Mrs. Joseph Bernauer Shoots Herself Through the Head.

Mrs. Jeannette Bernauer, daughter of T.
D. Day and wife of Joseph Bernauer, shot herself through the head Saturday evening about six o'clock at her home on Beecher street, near Shaw's carriage works. The motive for the deed is unknown. She was sitting in a room engaged in an animated conversation with her brother-in-law, James Hancock. He left her and passed into the kitchen, where he was startled by the sound of a shot. On returning quickly to the room he had just left, he was in time to catch the falling form of Mrs. Bernauer. Her death was instanta-neous. A note was found which read as follows: "My dear husband—If you were here it would be different. As you are not and do not care, so it is the same to me. I will leave you by I —. Good bye. Your ever loving, faithful wife, Jeannette Bernauer." The pistol she used was singlechambered and of 32 calibre. From all that can be learned her domestic relations were very pleasant and her married life happy. The family advance the theory that she was tem-porarily insane. Her husband is a fireman on the Belt railroad, and was not at home at the time of the snicide Mrs. Bernauer was 22 years old and had no children.

The coroner states he will not hold as inquest until Wednesday. He informally inquired into the case yesterday, and thinks Mrs. Bernhauer was suffering emotional insanity when she killed her-self. She was in the habit of carrying a pistol, on account of the loneliness of the neighborhood and the absence of her huspand at night.

THE DAILY NEWS.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1881.

JUDGE Woods is a young man yet, but he is mighty strong. Within thirty days he has succeeded in bringing Howk, Niblack and Worden to agree that a decision rendered by them in November last was neous and not "well-considered." Suppose we let Woods tackle the constitutional

In 1860 this country owned 2,379,399 tons of shipping engaged in the foreign trade, and our foreign commerce that year amounted to $667,192,000. In 1880 our pping tonage was 1,314,402, and our for eign commerce $1,503,593,300. In those wenty years our merchandise carried on he ocean has increased 125 per cent., and ur vessel tonnage decreased 45 per cent, In 1860 the ratio of our ocean tonnage to value of our ocean trade was one ton to $280 of merchandise. In 1830, the ratio was one ton to $1,144 of merchandise showing the relative decline in our tonage, within the twenty years, to have been bout 75 per centum." To regain our lost age, putting it back where it was in 860, will require 355 vessels of an average of nearly 3,000 tons each, costing at Amerian prices about seventeen millions of dolrs. But if we would get back to where ere in 1860 in the proportion that the t would require the construction of 1,346 is of 3,000 tons each. These figures it us to us show the futility of Senator e's subsidy notion for restoring our n traffic. We are so far behind that no dy will do much good, what we want is a fair field and free ships.

THUS far the republicans have not suc ed with the legislature in making any striking record in any particular, and me is nearly half gone. There is a ded reform in the matter of administhe state's institutions. The present ends a lot of officers who are laries out of all proportion to the mary duties and respons on them. It may be said that the scheme is one to multiply places ch emoluments attached as shall to them available as means of rewards. The system is vicious, and in particular is so ed to the benevolent, reforma nenal institutions. The trusteer or of these concerns properly re no great amount of work to do, and i wish to demonstrate that they the state, let them bring in a bill the salaries of these places to s inl sum, and where unnecessary duties been put upon these places as cation for the salaries attached them, replace those duties where they oon the active officers of the inwhose whole time is given to it, d the like. weigh evidence in favor of the accused dif-ferent from that by which to weigh evi-dence against him. The same rule is ap-plicable in weighing evidence whether it be for or against the accused; but the sum of the evidence must be of sufficient weight to exclude all reasonable doubt of his guilt."

Chief Justice Biddle delivered this opin-

On the 4th of February instant the su preme court delivered another opinion, on a rehearing of the appeal, prepared by Judge Woods, in which it is said:

Judge Woods, in which it is said:

"Among the instructions given by the court, of its own motion to the jury, the sixth was as follows: 'Facts and circumstances to be considered against the accused must be proved to be true beyond all reasonable doubt; and those tending in his favor need only be proved by evidence sufficient to cause a reasonable belief in their truth.' The inconsistency of the two propositions is plain. They are not reconcilable with each other, and neither of them is reconcilable with sound reasoning, or with the best definitions contained in well considered cases. * We think the instruction was erroneous."

Judge Elliott dissented from Judge Woods's decision; so that the three justices before named unite in overruling their own opinion given in November last, in a case involving the life of a fellow man, and agree with Justice Woods in writing across the face of that decision that it was not "a well considered case." If any justice's court in Indiana can do any better than this we should like to know it. And yet it is the court of last resort! THE RAILBOAD construction for the year 1880, as compiled and published by the Railroad Gazette, was most remarkable for extent, being but 190 miles less than the great year of 1872, that footing up 7,340 and this 7,150. In 1875 the construction sank to 1,561. In 1876 it was 2,450; 1877, 2.315: 1878, 2.916: 1879, 4.570, and last year, as stated, 7,150, which was an increase of 56 per cent. over the preceding year. Of this 1,452, or 20.4 per cent. was constructed east of the Mississippi river, and 5,698, or 76.6 per cent. west of it; and these figures show that while the increase of construc tion east of the Mississippi was 15 per cent. over that of the preceding year, west of the Mississippi it was 71 per cent. But from this it must not be assumed that the revival of railroad construction has affected the far west only. The Gazette's tables of mileage show that while there was an increase of 56 per cent, from 1879 to 1880 in the aggregate amount constructed in the United States, there was an increase of more than 100 per cent. in New England and in the middle states, and of 170 per cent, in the South Atlantic states, more than 100 per cent, in the old and steady group of states formed by Ohio, Michigan and Indiana, and only 18 per cent. in the eight states of the upper Mississippi valley which we have called "Northwestern," while it was less than 100 per cent, in the western territories, and 200 per cent. in the Pacific states.

The construction was chiefly by old companies which were already operating roads. Money was not easily obtained until the close of the year, but now signs are, capital can be had for the asking, and the Gazette expects the result will be a great number of "contractor's railroads;" roads built for the profits to be made by those building them. Construction was much costlier last year than the year before, owing to the higher prices of rails and rolling stock. Of the total 7,150 miles built, 1,453, or 20.3 per cent., were of narrow guage (3 feet, all but 131/2 miles, which were 31/2 feet). At the beginning of this current year there are now 93,637 miles of railread in this coun try. The increase of population is very nearly at the rate of 21/2 per cent. a year. The increase in railroad mile last year was 814 per cent. At the beginning of last year we had 573 people per mile of road. Last year's construction reduced it to 543 per mile. In Europe there are 3,333 people per mile of road; in Sweden where it is least there are 1,667 per mile. The enor mous rate of construction of last year can not long be kept up of course, but the prospects of 1881 are that there will be more miles of road built than ever before. The immediate effect of the great amount of construction projected for this year and the next will be favorable to the business of the country, causing demand for labor and

In this state the number of miles pe road built in 1872 was 183; 1873, 841/2; 1874, 20914; 1875, 1091/2; 1876, 721/4; 1877, 24; 1878, 84; 1879, 1641/2; 1880, 1851/2. For last year the construction in this state was by the fellowing roads: Chicago & Grand Trunk; Indianapolis, Decatur, & Springfield; Indianapolis, Delphi & Chicago; Lake Erie Evansville & South Western; Peoria, Decatur & Evansville; Toledo, Delphos & Burlington; Vernon, Greensburg & Rushville; Springfield, Effingham & Southwestern: Detroit, Butler & St. Louis.

The gist of republican newspaper comment on the nomination of Stanley Matthews to the su-preme bench is that he is an excellent jurist, though not always a judicious politician.—[New York Tribune,

That is "drawing it mild," to say the least. Perhaps there is not so much comment as attended Grant's nomination of Caleb Cushing and "Laundaulet" Williams, but it resembles it somewhat in kind.

The trouble with Stanley Matthews is that the people of this country have no confidence in him. He is a man of market ability and great accomplishments, but he has not in the past shown that stability of opinion that is so desirable in a justice the supreme court.—[Previdence Press.

[New York Times.] The danger of reversing the opinion of the court in favor of the constitutionality of the Pacific railroad funding bill is but one of the dangers which would attend the elevation of Mr. Matthews to the bench It might involve a paralysis of the wer of government to deal temperately justly with questions of transportation, and would thus tend to give force to the pop lar movement, slowly gathering strength against the pretensions and exactions of the railroads.

An attempt to swindle a life insurance company was neatly detected at Evansville Saturday night. One Charles Lucas, in December last married a ward of Julius A. Coleman, and soon after insured his life for $19,000. On the 20th of January it was reported that Lucas had fallen overboard from the steamer Maggie Smith, near Hen-derson, and was drowned. Two witnesses swore to the drowning. The Northwestern mutual, in which the insurance was placed, became suspicious and put a detective on the trail, and on Saturday night Lucas was discovered in Coleman's kitchen. The two witnesses and Mrs. Lucas then confess and all the parties are in jail.

Land in England.

Behind the land question in England is the question of habits. The land is held in these great tracts, not for enjoyment, but from pride. The brains of men are so equal under modern facilities of education that hereditary descent would be inconsequential if it did not have hereditary es-tate to advertise the fact; and consequent-ly every parvenu in the nobility rushes to buy land at a ridiculous price, so that he can appear on the landscape of the country among the sons of the Normans. For the greater part of the year an English estate is not fit to live on, on account of the climate, and there is plenty of land to be had for less than $1 per acre on the steppes of the Rocky Mountains more agreeable for hunting, for residence, and for every other enjoyment than the best land in England.

Why Not Have Both

It is believed by many who have studied the subject thoroughly and dispassionately, that a high license tax, with machinery like that of the national government for its col-lection, would suppress fifty per cent. more "doggery" saloons in the state than would be suppressed by the operation of local option, under the most layorable circum-

So far as General Mahone is concerned, the certainty that he will do the same is almost, if not quite, as strong as in the case of Judge Davis.

A Plain Fact.

It ought to be plain enough that the government should either make better silver dollars, or poorer gold dollars. Some day the favored few will gather up the best dollars, and leave the unfavored many to "enjoy" the poorer dollars.

"You see they have a sort of Mede and Persian law in their legislature, only with this difference: a law may be annulled within twenty-four hours after its passage. If they allow that time to elapse without reversal the act is irrevocable. After canvassing the house pretty thoroughly I found that my measure was unpopular, but that's a difficulty that never stands in the way of an experienced and persevering way of an experienced and persevering lebbyist. All I wanted was a bare majority, and so I selected thirty-five of my op ponents and kept them very steadily drunk till the day the question was to be decided. Some of them, it was true, were then so drunk that they could not vote at all, but enough of them were just sufficiently ex-hilerated to be grateful to me for the gin, and the bill was carried by a majority of five. However, I was not out of my difficulties by any means; the great trouble now was how to bridge over that dangerous twenty-four hours. Just as I feared that night one of the ministers came over to my room, and after a very little beating around the bush—they don't beat the bush so much there as in Washington—he told me that if I did not give him a thousanddollars he would move a reconsideration of that bill at two o'clock next day-just bethat bill at two o'clock next day—just before the usual time of adjournment. Now,
I had no idea of paying the fellow a thousand dollars if it could be possibly be avoided, and to gain time for reflection I gave him an evasive reply leading him to suppose that the money might possibly be forthcoming. When he had left I happened to think that I could avail myself of the Training Circus Horses, (Interview in Chicago Times.)

"How long," asked the reporter, "does it take to break a horse in?"

"From eighteen months to two years, for good and sure pad-riding. Care has to be taken that he does not shy or break his gait, but goes round the circus ring at an even pace, so that the performer can do whatever he wants, by time. If this is not even pace, so that the performer can do whatever he wants, by time. If this is not secured the performer can never tell where he is going to jump. Much, however, depends upon what the herse is being trained for, all the best horses being used for a special performance. In most cases the riders, if they are experienced, train their own animals, and thus, when they are ridden, they understand much better what is required of them. Ducrow, Mme. Dockrill Melville, Sebastian, Stickney, Cooke, Reed, and the like, all train their own horses, and own them. This system of private training has only been in practice a few years. Managers of a circus, under the old custom, were always expected to furnish pad-horses, and those required for two and four-act performances, so that a performer going from one company to another, would always find a horse ready for him to mount, and in a short time horse and rider would be able to understand each other. Nowadays, some of the crack stars have as many as eight or ten horses of their own, most of them trained for a special performance. They are very valuable, most of them being full-blooded, and imported from England and France. Great care has to be taken of them, as they are extremely liable to take cold after a ring performance."

The Police Board and Offices.
To the Editor of The Indianapolis News:
The daily Journal in speaking of the police relief association, terms it as a pet scheme of the board. If this be the case and this pet scheme is occupying their time it would no doubt be well to allow them to continue their devotion to it. To those who have taken the trouble to observe the matter, it looks very much like the present police board were prolific of pet schemes, and that they generally inure to some member of the board or their particular friends.

The pet scheme which now seems to be of particular interest to them is how much good the members of the force may do in assisting to fix matters in the coming city convention for one of the members of said board. There can be no objection to any citizen making an honorable canvass for any office in the gift of the people, but it appears to a disinterested person that when the tax-payers contribute to the support of police payers contribute to the support of police and for police protection they certainly are entitled to such service, and also that those having the appointing power could better serve the interest they represent if such appointments were made with a view to securing competent, sober, industrious men rather than those who may be able to set up ward delegations. The writer has no word of censure, nor does he wish to criticise the officers and men of the force, for that it is a fair average force no one can deny, and we have age force no one can deny, and we have competent officers. Allow them to conduct the force, and the duties of the board will not be so onerous.

MARKET REPORT.

Indianapolis Wholesale Market.

The local wholesale market during the past week presented but few, if any, new features. It was quiet from the opening to the close, and all fluctuations were of a minor character Values were generally well maintained, and prices ruled firm at the close Saturday. The volume of trade, while not large, was healthy and of a satisfactory character, imparting considerable strength to the market. Money matters ruled easy during the week, and the market closed Saturday in a healthy condition, with prospects of early increased strength of tone.

To-day there is but little doing. The miserable condition of the weather, of course, cuts off country dealers from coming in, and as a natural consequence, trade is inactive. The general tone of the market at the opening this morning was about the same as at the close Saturday, and for that reason, no change is made in quotations.

Prices continue to rule firm. Trade quiet.

THE LEGISLATURE.

The Whipping Post Breaks into the

AN INQUIRY INTO THE HENDERSON SUIT.

The whipping-post boom struck the house this morning. Mr. Cummins brought forward a bill which declares that for all assaults and batteries by husbands upon their wives, the penalty shall be whipping by a cat-o'nine-tails upon the bare back, the lashes being within the limits of five and twenty. The court may also, in addition fine and imprison, the punishment may be adjudged by criminal courts, justices of the peace or police courts. The county commissioners shall set up a whipping post at every county seat and in all incorporated cities add tewns, and the lashes must be well laid on by the officer serving the process. The bill went to the committee on rights and privileges. The house committee engaged in reviewing the work of the board of revision, will report in favor of changing the law which allows juries to affix sentences, giving that power to the judges, leaving the juries the sole duty of deciding the question of guilt. The change contemplated will make the law of Indiana similar to that already existing in almost all other states.

Representative Gardner has introduced a ana similar to that already existing in almost all other states.

Representative Gardner has introduced a bill providing for the separation of the department of geology from the bureau of statistics. According to the bill the state geologist is to serve four years, at an annual salary of $1,800. He shall continue the geological survey of the state, giving special attention to the discovery of mineral stones. He shall also be curator of the geological cabinet. Mr. Gardner states, "there is no more reason for doubling up the statistical bureau and the geological department, than there would be in a union of a street-cleaning department with that of fine arts."

than there would be in a union of a streetcleaning department with that of fine arts."

The bill allowing cities to guarantee twenty-five per cent. of the bonds issued for bridge construction across the Ohio river was announced for consideration by the senate this afternoon. It it now probable the bill will not work its way through the legislature as easily as was contemplated. It is for the especial benefit of New Albany, a bridge connecting that city with Louisville being contemplated. According to the scheme the bridge is to cost $1,000,000, and the stock has all been subscribed.

Judge Lindsey introduced a bill in the house this morning enacting a homestead exemption law. He stated that every state in the Union had such a law except six,
and Indiana was one of the exceptions.
The bill exempis $1,500 in real property,
and $1,000 in personal property,
and $1,000 in personal property,
and $1,000 in personal property,
and in other cases $300 in books or tools,
when the debtor is not a family man.

A bill was read in the house for the first time this morning repealing all laws rela-tive to grand juries, and abolishing utterly the grand jury system. Instead, it is pro-pesed that all prosecutions for misdemean-ors shall come before justices of the peace, and thence an appeal to the criminal cir-cuit court. The prosecutions in the circuit cuit court. The prosecutions in the circuit court shall be by affidavit.

The railroad committees of the house and senate will be made to feel their importance before the session shall close.

The number of absentees from the house ession this morning was very large.

The interest bill will probably come up in the house to-morrow.

The senate did not convene until two o'clock this afternoon.

The senate was not in session this morn-

The Proceedings in Detail.

Rev. Mr. Dudley opened the session with prayer.

The reading of the clerk's minutes was dispensed with, and the house proceeded at once to the consideration of new business, when the following described bills were introduced and read for the first time:

By Mr. Roelker [H. R. 290] amending sec. 3 of the act for more speedy trials, etc., passed March.

7, 1877.
By Mr. Compton [H. R. 291] to further define the duties of the adjutent general of this state Also, [H. R. 292] for amendment of sec. 31 of an act passed June 9, 1852, for relief of the poor. By Mr. Dell [H. R. 293] to restrain certain do mestic animals from running at large.

By Mr. Fall: [H. R. 294] amending section 16 of the highway supervisor act of March 8, 1859.
By Mr. Gregory: [H. R. 295] to legalize the Greenhill Seminary corporation in Union county.

Also, [H. B. 296] Amending section 527 of the general practice act of June 17, 1852.

THE RAILROAD SUBSIDY.

Indications of the Election Held To-day

-Votes Cast in all the Wards.

Owing to the rain of this morning a very light vote has been east in almost every ward. Aside from this the public interest has seemed very slight, and it is probable that even had the weather been the best no radically different result would have been reached. The number of men working either for or against the proposition is very small. In the fourteen northern wards of the city wagons were found in only one or two, and it seemed that they were not kept busy transporting voters. In but two or three were men gathered about the polls, discussing the question and they were very strongly opposed to the subsidy. In none of the wards did the projectors of the railroad seem to be making a great effort. Up to 12 o'clock there was little difficulty in classifying the vote for or against and keeping a fairly correct taily, as the tickets were of different sizes, but after that hour the new tickets for the propositions were distributed, which were of the same size and appearance as those cast against it.

PIRST WARD.

At 12 o'clock only 94 votes have been probably reach 200, against 347 in November, and an average vote of about 600 to 650. Two or three workers for the road

At noon only 40 votes had been cast with a probability that the number will not reach more than 200 at the closing of the polls. They were thought to be 18 for and 22 against. The vote of the road is about 700. There were no workers and no men whatever hanging about discussing the question.

At 12:30, 144 votes had been cast. The vote was running much closer here for the size of the vote than in any other ward in the north part of the city, and several men were actively engaged in working on both sides. The vote will probably reach 250 out of an average vote of 600.

age vote of 600.

FOURTH WARD.

At one o'block 145 votes had been polled, which was generally thought to be quite evenly divided while those oposed were confident that there was a good majority against it.

There will be about 200 or 250 votes out of an average vote of 600. Two wagons were in use here for transporting voters—one on each side.

At 12:30 only 77 votes were cast, of which more than 50 were thought to be against. Little work was being done, and not to exceed 200 votes will be polled. The average vote is from 600 to 700.

At noon 162 votes were in the box, which was said to be at the rate of about three to one against the subsidy. The workers against the tax men pretty active. The vote in November was 837, and the average is about 660 to 700, but it does not bid fair to to exceed 250 to-day.

SEVENTH WARD. At 11:30, 96 votes had been cast of which those interested compute that 60 were against the tax. The vote will be about 200 against 965 in November, and an average of about 750 to 800.

At 11:30 only 85 votes had been polled, and the drift was very decidedly against the proposition. In the morning there were no tickets on hand in favor of the road. The vote will reach, it is thought, 150, against 755 in November and an average of 625.

NINTH WARD. At 11:30 only 60 votes were cast, which were thought to be pretty evenly divided. The ward can poll 800 votes, but will probably reach 150 or 200 to-day. TENTH WARD.

At 11:30 only thirty voters had presented themselves, and it was generally thought that the entire vote would not reach over 100. The drift showed about two against to one for the proposition. The vote in November was 750. ELEVENTH WARD.

This is one of the solid wards of the city, and contains 900 or 1,000 votes, yet at 11 o'clock this morning only 25 had been cast, only about 9 of which were in favor of the proposition. It is not expected that over 200 votes will be cast.

TWELFTH WARD.
At 1:30 120 votes had been placed in the At 1:30 120 votes had been placed in the box. This is a strong negro ward, but very few of them have presented themselves to vote. It was generally conceded that about four or five votes had been east against to one for the proposition. The judges thought that not more than 175 or 200 votes would be east, an average of 650. THIRTEENTH WARD.

At one oclock when these polls were visited 113 votes had been cast of which it was thought more than 80 were against the tax. If the vote reaches 250 it will be larger then either either friends or oppoenents expect. The negroes were generally voting against the proposition. The vote ranges from 700 to 800. FOURTRENTH WARD.

only about 40 were computed to be in favor of the tax. There will probably be about 200 votes out of 600 or 700. There were no wagons and few workers at the polls.

Very quiet and voting slow. There were 50 votes in the box at noon, and the oppo-sition to the appropriation was at least two to one ahead.

Voting slow and but little interest. The vote stood about 3 to 1 against the appro-priation, with 51 ballots cast. SEVENTEENTH WARD.

There were forty-four votes in the box when the reporter called at this ward, and little or no interest being taken. The vote stood about even, though it was generally thought that the ward would go against the appropriation.

BIGHTEENTH WARD.

37 votes in the box, 30 against and 7 for.
This will be about the proportion when the polls close it was thought.

NINETERNIH WARD.

Here there were 56 votes in the box, and it was generally thought that the opposition were a little in the lead. No interest taken by either side.

TWENTY-FIRST WARD,
There had been 134 votes deposited when the reporter called at this ward, at least 10 to 1 being against the appriation.

TWENTY-SECOND WARD.

In this ward the vote seemed to be pretty evenly divided, though it was generally conceded that the opposition to the tax would carry the day by a small vote. There were ninety-seven votes in the box, and the friends of the road working hard.

TWENTY-THIRD WARD. The voting was rather spirited here, and at 1 o'clock 165 ballots had been cast. The proportion here was about 3 to 1 against.

TWENTY-FOURTH WARD.

There were 185 votes in the box here, four to one being against the tax. Very quiet and but little work being done by either side.

Everybody supposed that this ward would vote for the tax by a large majority, but at 1:30 when the reporter called at the voting place, such did not seem to be the case. There were 240 votes in the box, and the opposition led by about 30 votes. Considerable interest was being taken, and both sides working.

CENTER TOWNSHIP SOUTHEAST. The report from this precinct at 1 o'clock was that nearly everybody was voting against the appropriation. There had only been about 30 votes cast, but all but two or three were against.

The general belief at the different poll-

The general belief at the different polling places on the southside was that the appropriation would be defeated by a vote of about 5 to 1.

Said a policeman to a News reporter this morning: "I am around a good deal among the people, and so far wherever I have heard this coal road discussed there seems to be about 4 to 1 against it.

The workingmen on the southside generally voted against the coal road.

The colored people voted almost as a body against the appropriation. They say that railroads never furnished them any work.

The Drainage and Farm Journal of this city seems to fill "a long-felt want." The February number has a large amount of varied information about its topics.

The Odd Fellows' Talisman, like good wine, improves with age. The last number has over sixty pages of matter pertaining to the craft.

James H. Woodard has returned from Mcntor and Washington chook full of the views of prominent statesman. He says General Garfield is a good hand at asking questions and making no comments. He thinks Stanley Matthews will be confirmed by democratic votes it Col. Dan Maclure is made paymaster general.

Carnival

This season promises to be celebrated with more than usual magnitude. Our leading singing societies, the Mænnerchor, Lyra and Liederkranz, besides numerous other ciubs and organizations, are making great efforts this year to eclipse everything that has yet been produced in this line, and our young people are waiting impatiently for the great event. The trade of such of our business houses who deal in masquerade goods has, in consequence, been immense, and will continue to boom all through this month. The lion's share in masquerade goods has been accorded to the old reliable Fancy Bazaar, 6 E. Washington street. An immense variety of masks, gold and silver fringes, braids, tassels, gymps, spangles, stars, etc., has been provided by this house expressly for this year's carnival. In masks, exact likenesses of some of our great public men; types of all parts of the world from China to Africa; the jolly Dutchman, the original Jacobson, Devils, Indians, etc., not to forget fine old ladies' faces and most exquisite negro masks; wire, gauze, linen and satin faces, etc., etc., are some of the varieties shown. A visit to the Fancy Bazaar will pay.
